OUCH! BITING HURTS
How We Respond to Biting

1. Stay calm
2. Give attention to the child who was bitten
3. Firmly state "Biting Hurts"
4. Encourage the child who was bitten to self-advocate
5. Encourage the child who bit to help comfort the bitten child
6. Give strategies for how they could have handled the situation without biting next time
7. Help both children transition back into an activity

Supplement to "Ouch, Biting Hurts!"
A training developed by the Infant-Toddler Specialist Network. For more information, visit www.kccto.org"