

and Parent Partnerships February 2025

Aspects of Professional Well-being Job environment: Feeling safe at work, having enough Job physical space, access to first aid environment Professional agency: Being involved in planning at work, Professional Self-efficacy making decisions agency Self-efficacy with children is your belief in yourself that Partnership with parents: Partnerships you can support children. Openly communicating and with parents collaborating with parents Partnerships with parents makes the biggest difference in ECCE professionals' belief in themselves in supporting children.

Overall, compared to Center-based providers and ECCE professionals in other direct care settings, FCC educators had the highest scores on these aspects of well-being.

As part of the implementation of the Kansas Career Pathway for Early Childhood Care and Education workforce, KCCTO undertook the 2024 Kansas Early Childhood Care and Education Comprehensive Workforce Survey to establish a baseline understanding of Kansas's ECCE workforce. Members of the ECCE workforce shared their lived experiences by completing an online survey and participating in focus groups. See more at https://kccto.org/your-voice-counts/

Supporting Partners

Resources to Support your Professional Growth and Self-Efficacy

Administration

Family Partnerships

Health &

Learning & Development

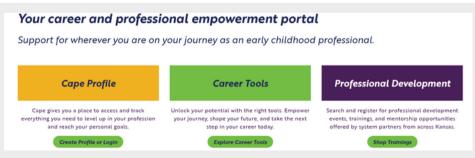

Infant-Toddler Specialist Network (ITSN)

- Training
- Consultation
- Individualized Virtual and Onsite Coaching

Connect with an Infant-Toddler Professional Development Specialist

Supporting Partners

